Sea Turtle Care Center™ Third Party Fundraising

A Sea Turtle's Journey Can Start with You

The South Carolina Aquarium welcomes sea turtle ambassadors like yourself whose creative fundraising efforts provide critical support for the rehabilitation and release of these endangered animals. Yes, endangered. Six out of the seven species of sea turtles live in the United States waters and they are all endangered.

Dedicated ambassadors have helped to raise awareness and funds for the South Carolina Aquarium Sea Turtle Care Center™. With the average cost of treatment and care for each turtle reaching an average cost of $50 per day, your support is crucial to the success of our program. Together we have rehabilitated and released over 200 sea turtles.

We're honored that you want to support these endangered species.

To get started please fill out the 'Ambassador Agreement' form. We do require at least one month's advance notice for all events. We look forward to hearing from you.

KUDOS
FOR KIDS!

Ethan Harrison is from Ontario, Canada, and his mom says he's been a fan of sea turtles since he could point them out in a book. He first visited the South Carolina Aquarium Sea Turtle Hospital when he was five years old, bringing with him a donation of $214. Ethan met a Kemp's ridley in critical condition named Wadmaw and left that day determined to do more. The next year, he returned with over $1,000! Ethan continues to raise funds for the Sea Turtle Care Center™, and he visits with his family almost every year. His fundraising efforts have included selling toys at garage sales, making and selling turtle chocolates at festivals, collecting bottles for deposit, selling specially made necklaces, and asking for donations in lieu of birthday gifts. In six years, Ethan has raised almost $6,000 and continues to inspire the South Carolina Aquarium team year after year.
