

WATERSHED SOCIETY

The Watershed Society is a community of philanthropists committed to the mission of the South Carolina Aquarium. This circle of supporters enjoys access to unique experiences throughout the year, including opportunities to connect with our people, our animals and our work beyond the Aquarium's walls. Watershed Society members are drawn closer to the areas of our mission most meaningful to them through regular communications and interactions with our award-winning team.

We invite you to join this steadfast group of donors who, collectively, elevate the South Carolina Aquarium and transform our community.

A Letter from our President and CEO, Kevin Mills

Since opening in 2000, the Aquarium has thrived in many spectacular ways. We are grateful to have served more than one million South Carolina students through our award-winning education programs, motivating the next generation of environmental stewards to care for our natural world. We are proud that we have asserted our voice as a national leader in addressing the most pressing marine conservation issues of our time, and we are humbled that we have gained international recognition as a state-of-the-art rehabilitation facility for sea turtles.

As a member of the Watershed Society, you are part of a dedicated group that shares our commitment to connect people with water, wildlife and wild places. We are honored to count you as part of this journey and together, we will continue to inspire our community, and one another, to invest in a bright future for our planet.

Sincerely,

Kevin Mills
President and CEO
